90/10 Disclosure – Centureon Institute

Under U.S. Department of Education regulations, an institution that participates in federal student aid programs (Title IV) must receive at least ten percent of its revenue from non-federal sources each fiscal year (34 CFR 668.28). This requirement is known as the 90/10 Rule.

Failure to meet this requirement for two consecutive fiscal years results in the loss of Title IV eligibility. If an institution fails to meet the requirement in a single fiscal year, it must notify students and prospective students that Title IV eligibility could be at risk if compliance is not achieved the following year.

Centureon Institute is committed to meeting the 90/10 requirements. As of the most recent fiscal year, Centureon Institute acknowledges the importance of maintaining a strong balance between federal and non-federal revenue sources. The institution has implemented measures to ensure continued compliance with the 90/10 Rule and protect student access to Title IV funding.

If you have questions about this notice or would like to learn more about the 90/10 Rule and how it affects institutional funding, please contact our Financial Aid Office at financialaid@centureon.edu or call (833) 236-8873.
